

The ROAR Response is an evidence-based resilience focused mental health response model, created specifically for primary schools to support the whole school in developing and supporting children's mental health.

The ROAR teacher's training programme is a one-day course that will equip staff to implement ROAR across the whole school. The course will cover the following:

- Children's Mental health and an introduction to the ROAR response.
- Specific areas of concern such as Anxiety, Low-mood/depression, Behaviour as communication and parental mental distress.
- Access to whole-staff CPD and parent sessions for you to deliver in your school.
- A selection of lesson plans and resilience-based resources for staff to use with the children in their schools.
